1925-1926 EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITORIALS

The retiring editors in giving up their offices have regrets and hopes in doing so. We regret that we have to surrender our school offices and hope that the future editors will improve "The Sutherland" by ways in which we have failed or in which we have been unable.

In reviewing this past year's work we find that it has been very successful and sincerely hope that it will continue so in the years to come.

Through these columns the graduating editors wish to express their appreciation for the aid given by the student body and faculty in making this administration a success.

In electing the 1926-1927 staff we tried to choose those who we thought would be the most competent and efficient to represent Proctor High School in this capacity. In parting we extend to it our most cordial good wishes. We hope that its path will be strewn with the roses of worthy accomplishments.

We also hope that the cup of success and happiness of each graduate will be filled to overflowing and that the undergraduates will work in their studies and other activities in the same manner as has been hitherto manifested.

"THE SUTHERLAND'S" ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE STANDARDIZATION OF P. H. S.

"The Sutherland" Staff encourages the student body and faculty in its work, the standardization of Proctor High School, and sincerely hopes that the townspeople will lend its support to this most worthy cause.

The standardization of Proctor High School will be a great honor and much prized goal. At present there are only three standard high schools in Vermont in equipment, teaching staffs, and students. We must make Proctor High School the fourth. Let's go, High School, Faculty, and Townspeople and keep flying our motto, "Proctor's Spirit Can't be Beat."

—o—

In retiring from our offices, we the 1925-1926 staff, hope that these suggestions may be accepted for the 1926-1927 editorial platform.

1. Further establishment of a permanent "Sutherland" fund.
2. As the price of our advertising is the lowest in the state, a slight increase.
3. A reduction of the price per copy.
4. More subscriptions.
5. Another issue each school year.
6. Latin and French departments.
7. A section of the school paper at the disposal of the Students' Association.

—o—

STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

The Students' Association having completed the first year of its career has brought the students into a closer relationship and has carried out many very important matters such as:

1. Better control of school finance.
2. Election of School Auditors.
3. Purchase of student property.
4. Addition of several amendments to the constitution.
5. Point system for school offices. (For tryout 1926-1927).
6. More interest in the care of school property.

Although many matters have been carried out by the Association, the work has hardly been begun. In leaving Proctor High School we should like to see the work carried on with as much enthusiasm and effort as it has been throughout this past school year.

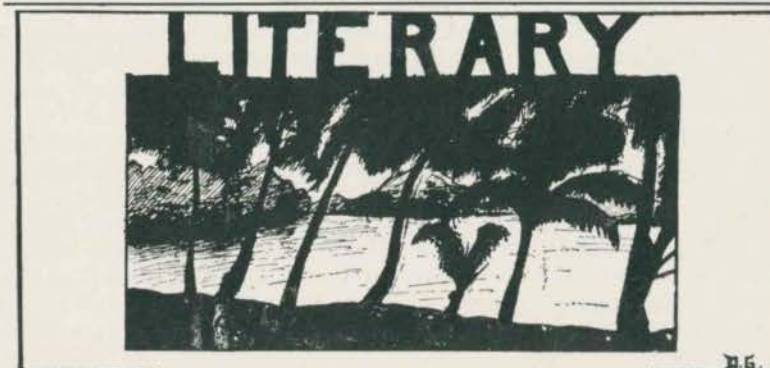

The Council wishes to express, by this means, its sincere thanks for the loyal support and co-operation of the Student Body and Faculty and gives its best regards for an ever growing importance in the life of Proctor High School.

JAMES E. HORAN, President.

—o—

We Juniors who have been elected editors for the school year of 1926-1927 sincerely hope that we shall be able to keep the "Sutherland" up to the standard that has been set by the retiring editors. We also hope that the student body will support us heartily in pursuing this work. We have at the present a magazine of very high standing and we will try and keep it at this high mark.

OBSERVATIONS ON WAGNER'S "THE CHARIOT RACE"

(A picture hanging in our Study Hall).

The race is on! The two wheeled chariots, studded with gold and polished brass, drawn by four horses wearing shiny black leather harnesses decorated with brass fixtures and buckles, come thundering around the curve. The ground shakes under the mighty foot falls of the heavy iron-shod horses. One of the chariots has tipped over. It breaks into pieces and the driver is hurled into the air. On the horses' faces is a look, half terror and half pain. One of the two leading chariots is drawn by four pure white steeds. All their muscles are doing their utmost; one can see them bulging underneath the skin, seemingly ready to burst. On the driver's face is a look of mingled anxiety, exhaustion and hope; for his chief rival in the race has the inside track, the place he has striven for all during the race. But now he feels the race is lost. Suddenly a little hope comes into his mind—supposing that man's horses should fall, exhausted or his chariot break. Then he himself could easily win. A feeling of hatred swells up in his breast as he hears the people cheering his rival on. He glances over his shoulder and sees the four coal black horses working evenly and steadily and the driver with a smile of victory on his face. He sees beyond him the multitude of Romans cheering for the driver of the black team. But all this does not altogether dishearten him. He lashes his horses without mercy and speaks to them, urging them to do their best to win the race which will mean honor, praise, and wealth for him.

ADVANTAGES OF SMILING

"A smile will go a long, long way."

This proverb we know is true. Did you ever feel gloomy, and by chance meet some one that gave you a good smile? Straightway you felt as if there was some reason for your being on earth. So why not "pack up your troubles" and smile! If there is someone in your crowd that is trying to pick a fight with you, forget this and just smile. The smile will rid you of the evil that might have been uttered from your mouth, had you not smiled in time. When you are wandering in a strange city, you feel pretty lonesome. Then, when you meet someone who smiles at you and perhaps says a few words to you, you instantly feel as if the city was not such a dreary place after all. Of course there are many different kinds of smiles. There is a right smile and a wrong smile. The right smile is the one we all like to see. It welcomes us, cheers us, gives us courage and helps us during our work. The wrong smile is the one that is unwelcome or rather "put on." You can always tell a person when he is putting on a smile just to be sociable. When you smile do it the right way and do it willingly.

THE DISADVANTAGES OF LYING.

One clear winter forenoon, three fellows, among whom I was one, started on our journey out of sight. By this I don't mean in a balloon or an airplane up in the clouds or even six feet under sod but I do mean out of sight of our homes.

There being ice on Beaver Pond thick enough to trespass, we strolled to the farther side, built a fire, and made ourselves comfortable on a plank which we found near the dam-house.

We each searched around our inside coat pockets and pulled out a five-cent cigar. Cigarettes weren't strong enough and so we purchased these that we might have a good smoke. I have heard about how one feels when he is intoxicated, also when one is seasick; but I promise you now that I felt worse than any of these.

I went home immediately after I started to see things rotate, and lay on the sofa. To help the situation, my grandfather showed the occult powers of Blackstone, the magician, and he called mother upon the scene and told her to ask me if I had been smoking. With the thought of the punishment which I might receive uppermost in my mind, I told a lie. I won't trouble myself to tell you anymore but will leave you to imagine what happened when father returned from work.

"GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN"

It's going to be a story of my Saturday night baths about six or seven years ago. Of course I detested Saturday night at best, and no matter how beautiful the day was, or how much fun I had had, Saturday always ended unhappily for me. I couldn't stay out any later than seven o'clock, nor drift away from the house for I had to stick around and take my bath, or take the stick and bath too. When I came into the house, the reservoir was filled with hot water and I was filled with hot-headedness. I immediately wished the water would flow away, or else I might disappear. I was driven into the bedroom and as I was very angry by that time I threw my clothes into all corners of the room. Then

I heard the signal to come out. Tears were already in my eyes, but when I saw that hot soapy water, and thought that I'd get soap in my eyes, I knew that I would have enough tears come to drown the Otter Creek, make a big flood on the meadow, and take a few pig houses away from Meadow Street. I jumped into the tub and then you should have heard the music.

"Gee whiz, Ma, you going to burn me to death? You ain't going to wash my head are you? Ouch, see there, now you got some soap in my eyes. What's the matter with you anyway?"

Well, that's the talk I gave to my audience, and my bath was finished. I felt a great deal lighter then, and if they had let me go out of the house, and a great gust of wind had come up, I bet I would have an altitude record that couldn't be beaten.

Saturday as a whole, was a very nice day, but it spoiled everything nice to have an unpleasant bath waiting for you before you could jump into bed on Saturday night.

THE SEA

Across the horizon far away,
As far as the eye can see,
The rippling waves by the ocean blue,
Come rolling in to me.

I see the white gulls wheeling by,
Flying for the land,
And the sun behind the fleecy clouds
Shines down upon the sand.

I sit upon the sea sprayed rocks
That are smoothed out by age,
And the dashing spray beats upon high,
As if in beaten rage.

The sun drops down below the waves,
Leaving a darkening yawn,
And the beautiful things are gone from sight
Till the wakening of the dawn.

The tide rolls in on the sands of time
And there's weary work to plod,
But there's nothing so great on this wide, old earth,
As the sea, that was made by God.

THE ISLE OF BYE AND BYE.

Just beneath that gleam of gold,
That paints the Eastern sky,
I'll greet the dear old days of old,
On the Isle of Bye and Bye.

Some days come with sorrow,
While others come with fun,
But the good old days which have been praised
Came in with happiness won.

My mother's face again I see,
Her head bent low in prayer;
The good old days that used to be
Are waiting for me there.

While, just beneath that gleam of gold
That paints the Eastern sky,
I'll greet the fame, that all began
On the Isle of Bye and Bye.

THE JOURNEY

After you have travelled all morning

You stop at a wayside Inn,
And gratefully eat your breakfast
Served on plates of tin.

Then go on with your journey
Until the dial shows noon,
And sit down then at the dinner-table
And eat with a silver spoon.

And when the bells ring supertime
And the day is growing old,
I hope that the tin of the morning
And noonday's silver be gold.

CLASS GRINDSVALBORG BROLIN"VOL"*

Valborg is one of the girls in the Senior class who hasn't cut her long hair. She also has brown eyes—the kind that sparkle. What would we do without Valborg in basketball?

BERNARD CANAPA*"BUZZY"*

Captain Canapa is retiring; quiet and modest is he. But oh! what a winker! You just ask anyone.

HERBERT ERICKSON*"HERBIE"*

"Herbie" is the life of the commercial class. Whenever you meet a boy with a grin from ear to ear you may know that it's "Herbie." His favorite haunt is the Hotel. You ought to see him bunt in the "big games."

FRANCES FRENCH*"PUSSY"*

"Pussy" is a quiet appearing girl, but those who know her will say she is really otherwise. She makes a fine "old lady" as was well demonstrated in the Senior play. She is a true friend.

HILTON GALE*"BREEZY"*

"Breezy" is our illustrious President. We have discovered that he is very nice looking in a military uniform. "Captain Absolute," you should always wear a powdered wig.

ALICE GUSTAFSON*"AL"*

Alice is one of our more quiet girls but she is a good friend and we all enjoy her. Although she hasn't entered into many outside activities we know that she really is of a social nature and then, too, she's a wee bit romantic.

EDMUND GARRON*"ED"*

Whoever thought that our "Eddie" would shine in the theatrical world, for certainly as "David" in "The Rivals" he sent the audience into "stitches" with laughter.

GLADYS HOOD*"PEG"*

There's no question about "Peg's" popularity, especially among the students of P. H. S. Whenever she is spied coming around a corner some one will say, "Well, here comes Peggy."

JAMES HORAN*"JIMMY"*

When anybody wants anything done, who is the person that is called upon? Anyone who cannot guess this conundrum, go to the foot of the class. Who is it in Proctor High that is always sought and relied upon to do all the things someone else won't do, as well as all the jobs he is elected to first?

MILDRED HOWE*"MILL"*

Mildred is another one of these quiet and shy girls. But if you get Mildred started, she'll show you what she can do. Does she like boys? Well—yes, the younger class mates, to be sure.

HILDER JOHNSON*"SHORTY"*

Here's to the sporting girl! Hilder is in her joy when she is in Athletics. Hilder is a good sport and is always willing to tackle the hardest kind of a job. As you know "Good things come in small packages."

HILMER JOHNSON*"JIMMY"*

Ah! here is another classmate of ours by the name of "Jimmy," but he is altogether different from the other one for if you give this "Jimmy" Aesop's Fables or some Ice Cream he thinks he is in Heaven. But where he shines is behind the footlights as was well demonstrated in "The Rivals."

JOHN LADABOUCHE*"JAKE"*

"Jake" is a good steady-going fellow. He certainly is a wonder at base-ball and football. He believes in making at least one home run or touchdown at every base-ball or football game.

GLADYS MORGAN*"GLAD"*

Hush, here comes Gladys. Can she argue? Well, I guess! Gladys always has the last word and firmly believes in "Stick to your rights." Gladys, why do you keep looking out of the study hall window?

FLORENCE MOHAN

"FLOSSY"

"Flossy's" only regret in life is that she can't be a boy. She surprised P. H. S. by coming to school with her hair cut the boyish bob. We all like "Flossy" because she is so care-free and always happy.

HENRY PETERSON

"PETE"

Some people think "Pete" is shy, but—just ask some of the Senior girls. One thing he can do perfectly is carry a football through a broken field for a touchdown. "Pete's" a good sport though and we all like him.

GLADYS PROUTY

"SPEED"

Gladys is known throughout the school. She is famous for her giggle. She likes all kinds of sports, especially riding.

RUDOLPH SWANSON

"VOLLY"

"Volly" is our star basket-ball player. "Volly" has a wonderful spirit and we all admire him. He keeps in trim by walking up and down Patch Hill.

VICTOR TIBER

"VIC"

"Vic" is a noted handy man around the school. His abilities range all the way from electricity to painting scenery.

EDITH UNDEEN

"EDIE"

"Edie" is very popular among her schoolmates. Our class vamp is Edith. Likewise, we all admire her because she is a good all around sport.

KAARIN WANNE

"KA"

Kaarin is so small and cute that we all envy her. She appears to be very quiet and modest. But, Kaarin, we know you! Never-the-less you are sure to make a good business woman.

SELMA WENER

"SALLY"

"Sally" is another vamp of the school. The Senior boys are strangers to her. She prefers going out of town.

CLARENCE YOUNG

"PUNK"

"Punk" also shines in basket-ball and base-ball. "Punk" is a lively one. We hear that he is going into the Insurance Business. Is that so, "Punk?"

1926 BASEBALL TEAM

BASEBALL.

The season got under way with difficulty owing to the number of veterans in the Senior Play. Eight of last year's men were back in school: B. Canapa, Capt., J. Ladabouche, R. Swanson, M. Fay, H. Gale, M. Faignant, H. Erickson, and J. Duprey. Other good material was found in C. Young, a Senior, also E. Anderson, '27, and F. Chehy, '29. The first game was won in spite of the lack of practice.

Proctor 17Pittsford 11

Proctor went to Pittsford, May 1, and defeated the home team by the score of 17-11. Canapa was relieved in the fourth inning by Fay. Many errors were made by both teams. Proctor, by its hard hitting, was able to easily defeat Pittsford. Ladabouche's batting was the outstanding feature of the game.

Proctor 2Fair Haven, 4

Proctor travelled to Fair Haven, May 7, and met its first defeat of the season by the score of 4-2. In spite of Canapa's 15 strike-outs and allowance of three hits to the Slate Towners, Proctor's poor hitting combined with several errors gave the game to Fair Haven. McFarren of Fair Haven pitched a good game.

Proctor 12West Rutland, 2

Proctor defeated the West-siders by the score of 12-2. The pitching of Canapa was a great puzzle to the home team.

Canapa having allowed only one hit, was relieved in the sixth inning by Fay because of an injured leg. Swanson's base stealing and heavy clouts were the stellar flashes of the game.

Games still to be played when this issue went to press:

May 22, Proctor at Brandon
 May 26, Proctor at Middlebury
 May 29, Proctor at Vergennes
 June 5, Proctor at Ludlow
 June 12, Proctor at Rutland.

SCHOOL NOTES

March 19—

Several members of the history class with the help of Miss Smith put on a Vermont Assembly. The program was as follows:

1. Essay—"Admission of Vermont into the Union"—Louis Barch.
2. Vermont Song—Assembly.
3. Essay—"Vermont Seal"—Sigrid Virta.
4. Poem—"That's Where Vermont Comes In"—Dezso Meszaros.

March 22—

The Senior Girls' basketball team defeated the Junior Girls by a score of 21-17, making them champions of the High School. Your turn next, Juniors.

March 23—

The Varsity played the Senior Girls' basketball team. The boys were dressed as girls and played girls' rules using only one hand. "Volley" Swanson was awarded the prize for wearing the most unique costume.

March 24.

Mr. Sheldon, Assistant Commissioner of Education of Vermont, spoke to the Seniors about the value of a college education and the profession of teaching.

March 25—

French Assembly.

March 29—

The prizes for the Annual Lincoln Essay Contest were awarded to Helvi Hella and Thomas Connor.

The Honor List of the Graduating Class for the four High School years with the first five is as follows: first, James Horan; second, Frances French; third, Hilton Gale; fourth, Mildred Howe; fifth, Kaarin Wanne.

April 1—

A Commercial Assembly under the direction of Miss Reed was given. It represented a scene in a business office. At the close of this Assembly Gladys Morgan and Kaarin Wanne received their Typewriting medals for forty or more net words per minute for fifteen consecutive minutes.

April 2-13—

The Easter Vacation which was much enjoyed by both students and teachers.

April 14—

Call for baseball candidates to which twenty-three responded.

April 23—

The Seniors presented "The Rivals" by Sheridan as their play under the direction of Mrs. Hodsdon of Rutland. Each took his or her part well and the play was a great success. $188.00 was derived from the performance.

April 30—

The Girls' Glee Club gave a party, each member inviting a boy. Punch and wafers were served. The music was furnished by Mrs. Tanerani.

In the annual bird house contest the following received prizes: Class I—first prize, R. Hanscarik; second, J. Hadeka; third, A. Tilberg. Class II—first, B. Wener; second, E. Wanne; third, J. Haley.

May 7—

The III's held a party. All seemed to have a good time.

May 10—

Senior essays were handed in.

We wish to acknowledge the receipt of the following exchanges:

- "The Academy Bell," Ashfield, Mass.
- "Boston University News," Boston, Mass.
- "The Vermont Pioneer," Randolph Center, Vt.
- "The Vermont Cynic," Burlington, Vt.
- "The Red and White," Rutland, Vt.
- "The Clarion," Fair Haven, Vt.
- "The Dial," Brattleboro, Vt.
- "The Exponent," Greenfield, Mass.

AS WE SEE OTHERS."

"The Exponent"—

A very interesting and well written literary section. Your poems are good. Especially, "The Midnight-ride of the Three Wise Men."

"The Academy Bell"—

You have some peppy jokes and your Athletic Department is very well written. Why not enlarge your exchange list and comment on your exchanges?

"The Dial"—

Excellent alumni and school notes.

"The Red and White"—

Your joke department is fine.

"The Clarion"—

Your literary section is good.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

"The Academy Bell"—

You have very good cuts and exchanges.

"The Clarion"—

You have a fine literary department. The class jokes were good but the joke department seemed rather small.

"The Red and White"—

You have some very good poets in your school, but why not a few more editorials? Don't you think your paper would be improved if the print were larger and it would be easier to read if the paper were not so smooth? Your Joke Department is very original.

Miss Smith—"What is one benefit derived from county courts?"

B. M.—(Who hadn't been listening)—"The County Fair."

* * *

Mrs. Hoyt in part singing:

"Don't be afraid to make a mistake, tenors, all great musicians were made by mistake."

* * *

Miss Smith—"Try it, Joe, there is no such word as can't."

Joe Duprey—"I cannot, then."

* * *

H. H.—"There has been a song set to music 'Under the Greenwood Tree.'"

CALCULATION.

Hayes—"At the rate of $\frac{1}{4}$ of 1% interest on the amount of 10 cents how much would I owe Kallio after 3 days?"

Salmi—"You'd have to figure that with a microscope."

Teacher—"Who was Erasmus?"

A. B.—"He was born a Dutchman by birth."

* * *

Teacher—"What can you tell me about Rustum?"

L. L.—"He couldn't sleep so he thought he would wake up."

* * *

Miss Reed—"Put that gum in the can, Joe."

Joe D.—"Where is your car?"

HEARD IN FRENCH CLASS.

Mrs. T.—“What does ‘Mal de Mer’ mean?”

B. O.—“Bad mother.”

* * *

Mrs. Hoyt—“Everybody stand on the last verse.”

* * *

R. Z. (when sole of shoe came off)—“I got my foot caught in English class and ripped the soul (sole) right out of me.”

* * *

Mrs. Taffs in French IV: “What is the French word for lady?”

Bertle B.—“Dame.”

Mrs. Taffs—“What article goes with it?”

B. B.—“Masculine.”

* * *

Miss Sanborn—“What is the meaning of Hades?”

“Buzzy”—“The lower world.”

Miss S.—“Who lives there?”

“Buzzy”—“The dead.”

* * *

Mr. Luddington—“If you were on second base and a fielder threw the ball to you, what would you do with it?”

Kallio—“Catch it.”

FROM THE “MIDGET”

Teacher—“Name later improvements which have helped country life.”

B. C.—“Rat Poison.”

* * *

E. F.—“Do you know Fat Burns?”

N. S.—“No.”

E. F.—“Put some on the fire and see.”
